What is a Spacedrop?

- Like an airdrop
 - Funding is guaranteed!
 - Faucets sometimes run dry. They often are supplied only by donations.
- Like a faucet
 - Open to everyone.
 - Airdrops are restrictive. Usually; limited by country of residency.

What is an airdrop?

- "Airdrop's" for those who don't know; is a way by which cryptocurrencies can be distributed to a specific target.
 - Auroracoin (Iceland)
 - Spaincoin (Spain)
 - Aphroditecoin (Cyprus)
- The "airdrop" is a website someone goes to, to collect coins.
 - Please don't think there are any plans involved with a cryptocurrency airdrop, there is not.

What is a faucet?

- "A faucet in the alternate currency world is basically a website that gives you a small amount of the coin for free, whether because of the advertising revenue they have on the site, various clicks they get, or because they are interested in promoting their crypto-currency & if someone has a stake in that crypto-currency then they are more likely to promote it."

- Some faucets give out coins only to support a cryptocurrency, they mine and give them away via the faucet, for free (no profit).

When does it start?

- The Sterlingcoin Spacedrop will start at launch.
 - September 21st 2014 6 PM GMT (1 PM EST)

When does it end?

- We don't know yet. We will keep the Spacedrop running as long as there is enough Sterlingcoin to do so or, after 6 months, we will put any remaining coins in the Sterlingcoin Faucet.

What happens when it does end?

- We turn on the Sterlingcoin Faucet.

The faucet is off while the Sterlingcoin Spacedrop is open.
